Career opportunity for new graduates

Do you have a Finance or Accounting degree, or are nearing completion of one, and are looking for a career opportunity with a leading regional NSW employer?

Essential Energy is seeking applicants for its new Commercial Graduate program to learn specialised skills in an industry at the forefront of change and transformation.

Chief Financial Officer, Justin Hillier, said eligible applicants would need to have completed their undergraduate studies in an accounting or finance-related subject in the past two years or be studying toward completion in 2017.

“The challenging three-year program includes structured rotations across various commercial business areas to provide graduates with an in-depth overview of our business, our customers and their needs,” Justin said.

“Program participants will gain invaluable experience working on major projects and be guided by a mentor who will provide support to obtain a postgraduate accountancy qualification.”

The full-time position is based in Port Macquarie on the NSW mid-north coast and applicants must be an Australian or New Zealand citizen or permanent resident.

Essential Energy promotes diversity in the workplace and encourages applicants to apply regardless of gender, ethnicity or disability.
